Reciprocity and Functoriality

I will introduce these two important concepts in Langlands program through examples within GL(n), the general linear group. In particular, I will mention some recent results concerning them.